THANK YOU!

On behalf of the Classified Senate and all Classified Professionals we would like to give a warm farewell and thank you to our past senator representation. They did an amazing job representing the classified professionals and now it's time to pass the baton and continue the work with our new senators.

THANK YOU!!

Halloween Contest

It's that time again where areas in Student Services compete in an office Halloween Decorating contest. Last year the Assessment office won the Halloween Trophy (congratulations) and had bragging rights for the entire year. Who will win the trophy this year has been the burning question? Now the wait is over!

This year's winner is.....Counseling!

CONGRATS!!!!

Institutional Equity Project Team

Please welcome and join Joshua Moon Johnson and Pam Chao as they would like to come in and talk to classified professionals about what they are doing in the Institutional Equity Plan Committee and to hear your perspectives on equity. They will be answering questions like.....

What do classified professionals think an institutional equity plan should include? What do you think an equitable ARC would look like? What resources are needed?

Date: Wednesday, November 14th, 2018

Time: 10:30am (1 hour before senate meeting)

Location: Student Center Boardroom

Governance @ ARC

Name of Council: Facilities Master Planning Committee

Reporter: Cheryl Watt

Summary: The facilities committee is charged with developing a new Facilities Master Plan for ARC. The first part of the master plan is to design guidelines for the projects which includes signage and way-finding, parking, a cohesive look, inclusion, social justice and equity, and sustainability. This could take 4 years from the request to a building actually being built. ARC is not expected to have growth in enrollment, so all projects that are being proposed are for modernization/replacement of current buildings.

Name of Council: ELSS Committee

Reporter: Lydia Engelsgaard

Summary: Kale Braden introduced the ARC community to the Ad Astra Scheduling System software. Classified Professionals who are involved with class scheduling or scheduling events, will want to learn and understand this new software. Ad Astra will be providing a training soon. Be on the look out for future training dates for those who would like to attend.
